

Switched on apprentice wins award

HARD work and dedication paid off for Kalamunda resident and apprentice Gary Clementson.

Mr Clementson has won a 2008 Group Training Apprentice of the Year Award for his position at Team Electrical.

The award from Group Training Australia acknowledges the nominees' contribution to their given trade, and encourages apprentices to make the most of their training opportunities.

Among other things, the nominees are judged on performance on the job, training undertaken off the job, and personal skills.

Mr Clementson was a competitor in the recent Avon Descent to raise money for the Epilepsy Association, and was also a volunteer at Access 31 community station.

The awards night was on August 29 at Ascot Quays Hotel.

Gary Clementson (centre) accepts his award from Westscheme's Karen Metcalf and Minister for Education and Training Mark McGowan.

